Published by the Senior Class of the
Harding High School
Marion, Ohio

Dedication

We respectfully dedicate this volume of the Quiver to

Miss Pansy K. Rauhauser

from whose teachings we have learned that education is more than the knowledge gleaned from books...that, in its ultimate accomplishment, it is a definite medium of self expression, the unfolding of a personality.

Miss PANSY K. RAUHAUSER

Foreword

This book is not intended to be an expression of literary genius. It is not a masterpiece of art or language. Rather....its purpose is to record by word and illustration a year's activities at Harding High. May the memories of many pleasant associations be recalled by this....The Quiver.

Senior History

In September 1930, two classes, one from Vernon Junior High and the other from Central Junior High, entered Harding High School as sophomores. As freshmen, the group at Vernon chose Donald Uhl, president; John Guthrie, vice-president; and William Pohler, secretary and treasurer, while those at Central chose Raymond Hinklin, president; Everett Williams, vice-president; Eleanor Zieg, secretary; and Jane Raub, treasurer.

Both classes, loyal to their respective schools, were enthusiastic in all school activities. The Vernon basketball team, coached by Mr. Alwyn Crane, won the city's Junior High School championship. Robert Rosenberg and Donald Uhl were chosen presidents of the Torch Club and Ruth Turner and Mary Gracely presidents of the Girl Reserves, election in both clubs being held semi-annually. An operetta, "The Toreadors," was given at the Central Junior Auditorium and "Scarlet and Grey," the school yearbook was published by the following staff: John Guthrie, editor; Donald Uhl, assistant editor; Mary Gracely, literary editor; Richard Johnson, art editor; and Grace Wheeler, business manager.

The class at Central presented a play, "The Princess," and for the first time in the history of the school, an annual, "The Cauldron," was published. Members of the staff were: Rayl Conyers, editor; Richard Clevenger, assistant editor; Martha Waddell, literary editor; Ruth Persinger, art editor; and William Elliott, business manager. Jane Raub was elected president of the Girl Reserves and Milton Birnbaum president of the Torch Club.

As sophomores, the class elected John Guthrie, president; Donald Uhl, vice-president; Jack Bray, secretary; and Eleanor Zieg, treasurer. They were represented in debate and athletics.

John Guthrie, president; Robert Mautz, vice-president; Stanley Strayer, secretary; and George Howser, treasurer, were the officers chosen in the junior year. The class was again represented on debate, football and basketball teams. Four plays were given, "The Cross Stitch Heart," "Babbitt's Boy," "The Sentimental Scarecrow," and "A Message from Khufu," and the year's activities closed with the Prom for the senior class of 1932.

As seniors they chose John Beicher, president; John Guthrie, vice-president; William Elliott, secretary; and George Howser, treasurer. The class sponsored an entertainment course and, as in their sophomore and junior years, were active in debate, football and basketball. The senior play, "Disraeli," was presented March 29 and 30 at Edison Junior High School. With a senior breakfast, class day and then graduation on May 19, the history of the Class of 1933 was finished.

Junior History

In their freshman year, the class of '34 chose Maurice Whitcum, president; John Warner, vice-president; Muriel Wise, secretary; and Donald Quaintance, treasurer, at Central; and Charles Brown, president; King Crissinger, vice-president; Jimmy Lewis, secretary; and James Sautter, treasurer, at Vernon.

The class at Central gave two plays under the direction of Miss Isabelle Stump, "Let's Move the Furniture" and "The Clock Struck One." The parts for the former were assigned to Philip Pheasant, Gerald Seckel, Charme Lee Webster, John Warner, Imogene Russell, Rennix Van Scoy and for the latter to Joe Williamson, Orus Wetzell, Phyllis Hecker, Ivan Schmidt, Ruth Leonard, Dorothy Willis, Donald Quaintance, Marjorie Hayner, Muriel Wise, Lucille Brabson, Walter Haldeman, Glen Ross, Edward Moon.

During the year, the Vernon class presented the play, "Cynthia's Candlesticks," directed by Miss Una Ackley. The play concerned Cynthia Tillinghast, who had inherited some valuable candlesticks from her rather eccentric father. The candlesticks were stolen; and Cynthia and her friend, Martha Todd, planned to visit New York City and search for the missing heirlooms. Martha was determined that Cynthia should have some of the good times that had been denied her in her childhood. They went to New York, met old and new friends, found adventure and love, and finally regained the famous silver candlesticks. The cast was: Cynthia Tillinghast, Alice Blake; Ben Tillinghast, John Canterbury; Ruth Tillinghast, Geraldine Denman, and Mae Brown; Martha Todd, Jean Howard; Joel Bassett, Samuel Birnbaum; Ambrose Tufts, Charles Brown; Steven Hopewell, George May; Johnnie Cotton, John Dodd; Mrs. Everett, Virginia Musgrave; Nora, Norma Barrett.

The class, as sophomores, elected William Smith, president; John Warner, vice-president; Elizabeth Zachman, secretary; and June Taylor, treasurer. They were represented on the debate and basketball teams.

In the junior year the following officers were elected: William Smith, president; Maurice Whitcum, vice-president; Margaret Lehman, secretary; and Donald Quaintance, treasurer. Three one-act plays were given: "The Doctor of Lonesome Folk," "Never Ain't," and "The Master Salesman." The class was represented on the debate team, and contributed lettermen to the football and basketball teams.

Simplicity was the keynote of the annual Junior-Senior Prom given in May as a farewell to the class of 1933.

Sophomore History

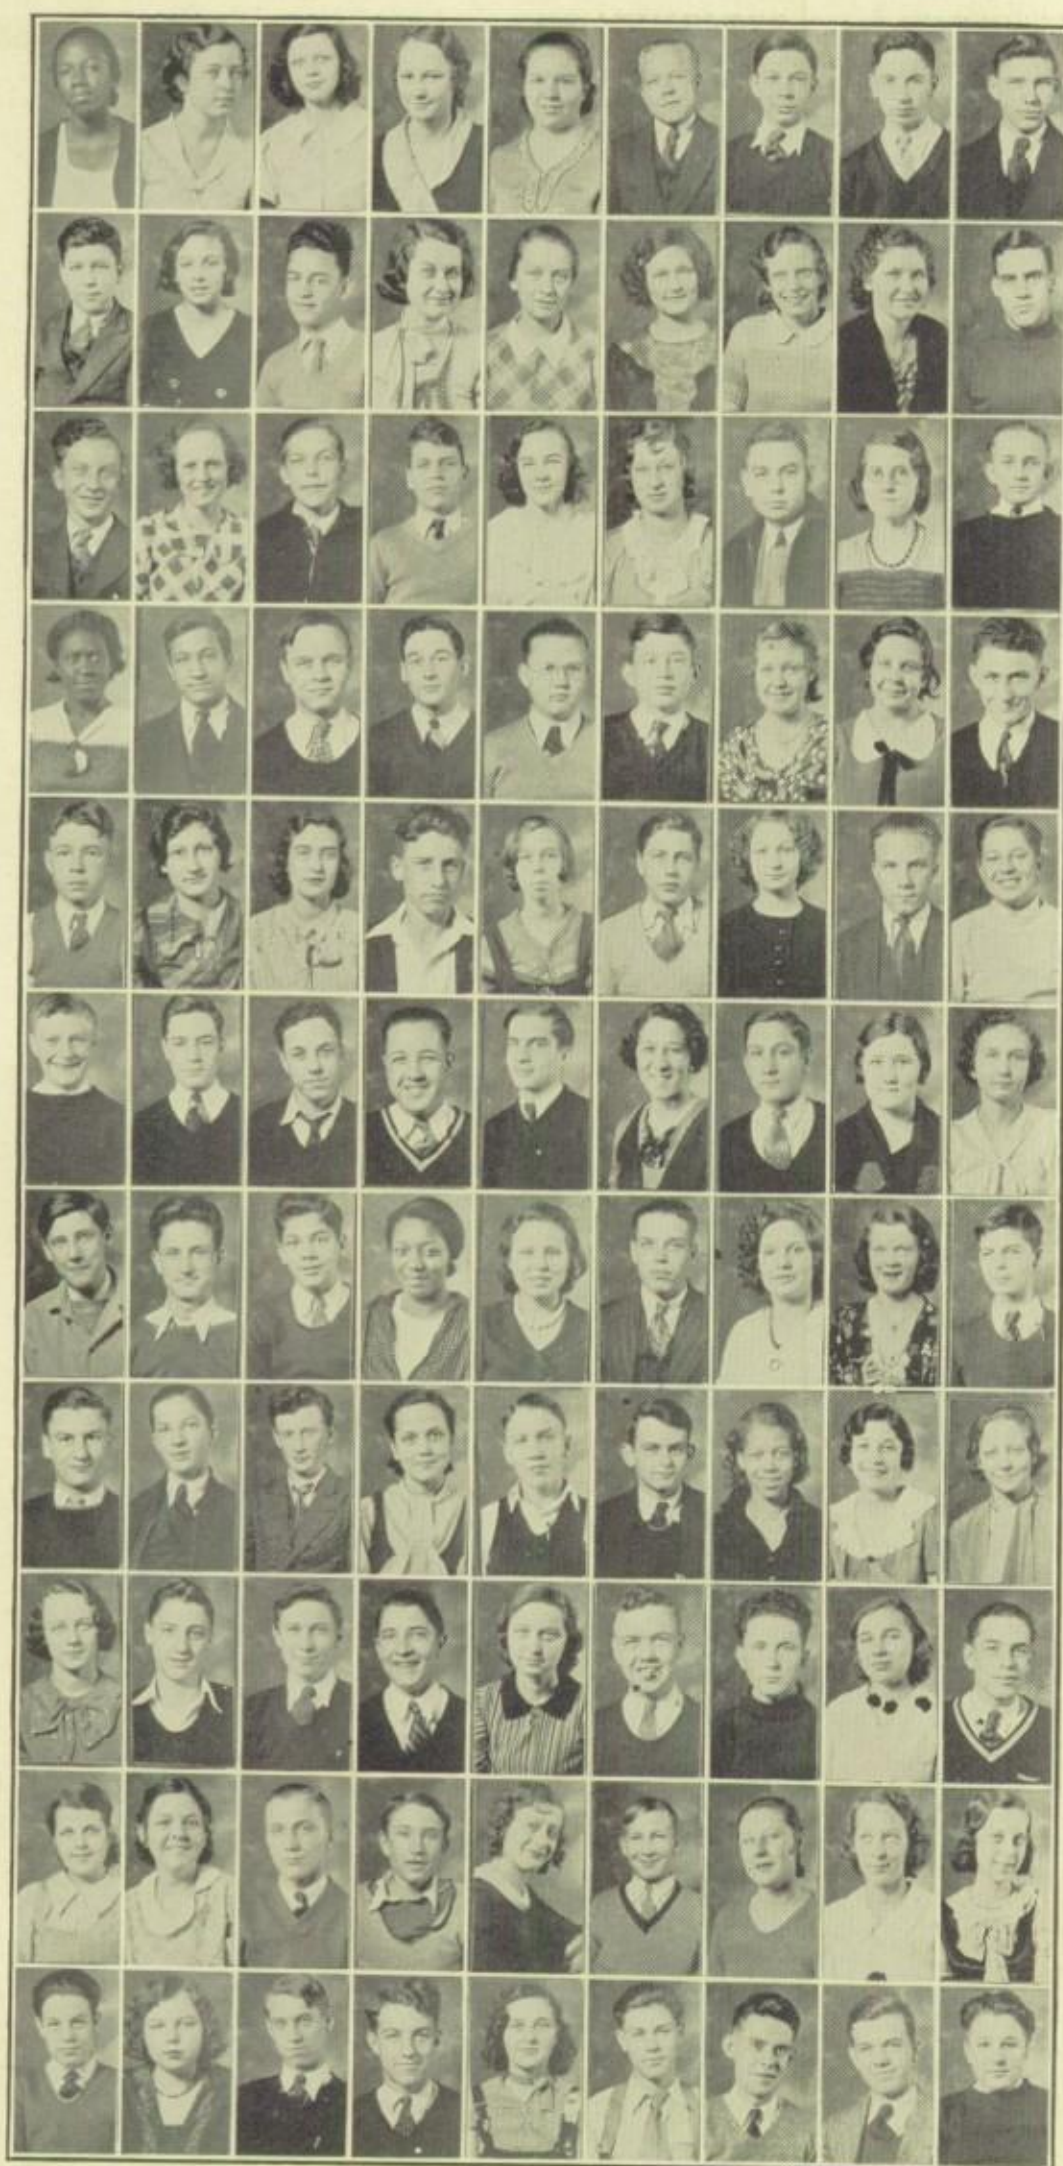

As freshmen, part of the class of 1935 attended Vernon Junior High while the others were students at Central. The Vernon freshmen chose Harry Winters, president; Page Boyer, vice-president; Frank Roberts, secretary; and Betty Strayer, treasurer. Members of the class participated in a spring concert sponsored by the Vernon glee clubs, orchestra and band under the direction of Mr. Hamor Mitchell.

A pageant, "The Tapestry Weavers," directed by Miss Lela Brookshire and Miss Una Ackley, was given by the Girl Reserves. It pictured the life of a Girl Reserve as a tapestry, the pattern of which was the Girl Reserve Code, and the threads woven into the pattern represented those activities she should make a part of her life. The Spirit of Weaving, Mary Stoner, brought to the Spirit of Girl Reserve, Jean Burns, the threads of "Good Times," "Friendship of Good Books," "Service," "World Friendship," "Music," and "Love of Nature." The threads woven in the tapestry were presented in five scenes. The first, Annabelle Winters and Johanna Diegle were among the members of the Hiking Group; Irma Betz, Dorothy Clum, Jean Knapp, Virginia Andrews, Reva Loudenslager, Eva Davis and Betty Strayer were characters in the scene of "Good Books"; Eloise Power, Helen Linton, Dorothy Clum, Elizabeth Parshall and Jane Koons were in the "Service" group of scene three. Folk dancing by Melissa Holdridge, Betty Strayer, Reva Loudenslager, Mary Hogan and Martha Hansberger represented "World Friendship." In scene five, "Music," and "Love of Nature," were interpretive dances with Helen Muntsinger and Mary Virginia Fetter as "Sunrise"; Jean Williams as "Trees"; and Ellen Phillips, the "Wind." The Tapestry Weavers during the prologue were Janet Brown and Victoria Seas.

The freshmen at Central elected Hubert Goerlich, president; Jane Wires, vice-president; Jane Myers, secretary; and Elaine Strawser, treasurer. During the year they presented the play, "Seventeen" under the direction of Miss Rosanna Crow. Those who took part were: Dan Saiter, Dorothy Jean Elliott, Jane Myers, Charles Riley, Oliver Rowley, Elsie Kenton, Mary Jane Reamsnyder, Fred Joseph, Leonard Wooley, Hubert Goerlich, Fred Hoch, Margaret Brooks, Bonnie Brown and Karl Bechtle. Central won the Junior High School championship in basketball.

During the sophomore year the class elected Hubert Goerlich, president; Richard Crow, vice-president; Dorothy Jean Elliott, secretary; and Walter Ruzzo, treasurer. They were represented on the debate, football and basketball teams.

Alma Mater

(Tune—Ten Thousand Strong)

I

Come along and sing us a song
Of dear old Harding High,
Oh worthy the name we bear.
Where age and youth have sought the truth,
As the years go by
Beloved is thy glorious name,
Beloved is thy glorious name.

Chorus:

Harding High School! Harding High School!
Hail to thee, Our dear old High School!
Our dear old Harding High School,
Our Alma Mater dear;
We serve the state, our motto,
Thy name we love so dear!
Oh may you ever prosper
Our heart's best wish for thee;
Our dear old Harding High School
Is for prosperity.

II

No colors slack our red and black,
Kissed by gentle winds,
When victory floats on high,
And should thy form wrestle the storm
As the years go by;
We'll conquer for thee, or die,
We'll conquer for thee, or die.

—Harold Compton.

Senior Class Song

(Tune—Mother Machree)

I

For the years that are filled with a fond memory
For the friendships we'll cherish with love ever new,
There's a place in the future forever
you'll fill—
Our dear Alma Mater, so loyal and true.

Chorus:

We will lift high our voices and offer
thee praise,
Our dear Harding High School, your standards we'll raise:
To you may come sorrow or prosperity,
May God bless you and keep you
Class '33.

II

In all that we endeavor or treasure as dear,
The esteem of our High School must ever be near.
And now that we're leaving, to class
'34—
We give up our banner to-day, evermore.

—Marguerita Leffler.

National Honor Society

To promote high standards among all students is the purpose of the National Honor Society which was organized in 1925 through the efforts of Mr. K. H. Marshall. Miss Edith Brown sponsors the society.

The organization recognizes four cardinal objectives as fundamentals in all educational practice: Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service, and to be elected to membership in the society is the highest honor that can be attained at Harding High School. Their emblem is the keystone and flaming torch. The keystone bears as its four corners the letters, S. L. C. and S. which stand for the four cardinal principles of the organization. Members of the society are expected to follow out the principles the organization stands for, to induce others to aspire to scholarly habits, and to lead forward in all things that will advance the welfare of the school.

From the highest fourth in scholarship fifteen per cent of the senior class is chosen by a vote of the entire faculty. Five per cent of the class were chosen at the end of the junior year and the remaining ten per cent in the senior year.

The officers for the year were: Maxine Alspach, president; Stanley Strayer, vice-president; Robert Rosenberg, secretary; and Mr. J. H. Smith, treasurer.

The members were: Maxine Alspach, Betty Annen, John Beicher, Henrietta Bird, Jack Bray, Mary Burtch, Robert Campbell, Nancy Carskadden, Rayl Conyers, Martha Jane Cook, Alice Crow, Genevieve Doering, Mary Gracely, Lillian Hankel, Trella Hemmerly, Anita Hoffmanns, Helen Holdridge, Mary Lewis, Charlott Llewellyn, Katharine Marshall, Robert Mautz, Marjorie May, Marilyn Meseke, Imogene Metz, Martha Miller, Anna Mosher, David Murray, Muriel McMurray, Henrietta Perfect, Mary Phillips, Jane Raub, Robert Rosenberg, Marcella Smith, Catherine Thew, Martha Waddell, Mary Louise Winters.

Le Petit Salon

Le Petit Salon is an honorary French club which was organized by Miss Isabel Freer in 1919. The purpose of the club is to create a greater interest in the language, life, and customs of the French people.

All students receiving 90 or above for a six weeks' period in senior French are eligible for membership. This last year the club averaged thirty-two members, the largest in the history of the organization.

The meetings were held once every four weeks at the homes of the members and all business and conversation were carried on in French. The outstanding meetings of the year were those in which French opera and art were discussed. In the former, operatic selections were sung and played, and a history and synopsis of the operas given. In the latter, French paintings were pictured by living portrayals of different characters in each picture.

Three plays, "La Famille de Ruggles," "Une École de France," and "Rouget de Lisle Compose La Marseillaise" were given during the year.

Le Petit Salon is sponsored by Miss Isabel Freer and Miss Ruth Starr.

The officers for the year were: Mlle. Henrietta Bird, la presidente; Mlle. Mary Louise Winters, la sous-presidente; M. Jack Bray, le secretaire; Mlle. Maxine Alspach, la tresoriere; Mlle. Trella Hemmerly and Mlle. Muriel McMurray, les reportieres.

Aim Hi

The Aim Hi ring group of the Harding High Girl Reserves was organized by Mrs. Rogers M. Kyes (Miss Helen Jacoby) in 1930. To obtain a Girl Reserve ring is the highest honor conferred upon any girl within the Girl Reserve organization, and those who have been members of the Girl Reserves for two years are privileged to join Aim Hi.

The emblem of the Girl Reserve ring is not of great value in itself but lovely in its meaning. The circle that surrounds the triangle is to remind one of all the Girl Reserves around the world formed in a great unbroken circle of friendship. The triangle pictures three sides of a growing personality—body, mind, and spirit, and a Girl Reserve grows into appreciation of the meaning of the ring by living out the principles it represents.

The meetings were held every two weeks on Thursday, at the school. The programs were of two distinct types—discussions on character building, and vocational guidance when some one from without the school was invited to speak to the girls. The guest speakers were Mrs. Rogers M. Kyes, Mrs. Loring K. Warner, Miss Mary B. Pleasant, Miss Hallie Houck and Miss Grace Kline.

The officers for the year were: Miss Jean Freer, sponsor; Mary Gracely, president; and Beatrice Uncapher, secretary.

The ring ceremonial, at which time the girls received their rings, was held Sunday afternoon, April 23, at the Central Christian Church. Mrs. George A. Bowman presented the rings.

The members were: Norma Barrett, Irma Betz, Helen Burns, Helen Ferguson, Barbara Fralich, Adeline Hecker, Lois Humes, Charlotte Johnston, Donna Klingel, Virginia Koons, Mary LeMasters, Katherine Moore, Annadale Nixon, Elizabeth Parshall, Eloise Power, Della Roop, Martha Schlientz, Victoria Seas, Esther Selanders, Betty Strayer, Virginia Stock, Florence Sweney, Catherine Thew, Grady Tucker, Ruth Turner, Beatrice Uncapher, Jean Verberg, Catherine Watson, Dorothy Williams, Phoebe Williams, Kathryn Williamson, Helen Wood, Elizabeth Zachman, Irene Zeigler.

Inter Nos

Inter Nos, the oldest organization of Harding High School, was organized in 1913 by Miss Olla Allmendinger. It is an honorary Latin Club composed of junior and senior girls who receive 90 or above for a six weeks' period in Latin.

The purpose of the club, which is sponsored by Miss Mabel Turney, is to give additional attention to the study of Roman life and the classics with the idea of creating more interest in the subject.

The club affords an opportunity to become better acquainted with those things which played an important part in connection with the life and writings of Cicero and Virgil for which classroom work affords little time or opportunity.

It has become the custom of the club for the girls to make Christmas cards bearing Latin greetings which are exchanged at the last meeting in December.

A pin was chosen in 1913 by the Inter Nos girls and has been used each year since that time. The standard Inter Nos pin is in the shape of a shield with a curved piece on the top bearing the words, "Inter Nos." On the shield are the initials H. H. S. and the date of the year in which the members graduate.

Meetings were held at the school the second and fifth Tuesdays of each six weeks' period. Mythology was the topic for study throughout the year.

The officers for the year were: Grace Wheeler, president; Evelyn McClelland, vice-president; Eutoka Welch, secretary; and Marcella Smith, treasurer.

The members were: Eloise Bodley, Frances Emmons, Dorothy Fisher, Mary Gracely, Cleo Haberman, Lillian Hankel, Anita Hoffmanns, Helen Holdridge, Sarah Hurd, Carrie Krisher, Margaret Lehman, Charlott Llewellyn, Evelyn McClelland, Margaret McGhee, Imogene Russell, Esther Selanders, Marcella Smith, Catherine Thew, Martha Waddell, Eutoka Welch, Grace Wheeler, Ruth Wheeler.

Roman Senate

Roman Senate is the honorary Latin Club for sophomore, junior and senior boys who receive 90 or above in Latin for a six weeks' period. It was organized by Miss Olla Allmendinger in 1918.

Miss Mabel Turney and Miss Trolle Klopfenstein are sponsors of this club which meets once a month at the school.

The purpose of Roman Senate is to extend interest in Latin and Roman life beyond the opportunities given in the class room, and this activity carried on throughout the year proved of great interest to the Senators.

With a definite program in mind, the scope of the club was greatly widened and information of great Romans as Cicero, Virgil and their contemporaries was subjected to round table discussions. One comparison was especially noted, and that was the fact that the much glorified civilization of ancient Rome was laid upon some of the same fundamental principles as that upon which modern government is founded today.

In direct opposition to the fact that, while governmental principles corresponded to present fundamentals, cultural lines did not. This was especially brought out in the study of the education of Roman children. Unless a boy belonged to a family of at least moderate wealth, he was not privileged to enjoy the educational advantages of his day. Agrarian life and the industries of that ancient age were also taken up for discussion, as were the life and environments of the Roman citizen.

The officers for the year were: Robert Rosenberg, president; Robert Loeb, secretary and treasurer.

The members were: Everett Baker, Kelsey Bartlett, Marvin Howe, Abbott Howser, Donald Humes, Robert Loeb, Robert Rosenberg, Oliver Rowley, Clark Wideman, Damon Wetterauer.

Forensic League

"Resolved, that at least one-half of all state and local revenue should be derived from sources other than tangible property," was the question for debate for the year 1932-1933. The forensic season was a profitable one, not because the question was of unusual interest, not because competition was keen, but due to the fact that each one who participated took an active interest in his work.

Under the leadership of Mr. Thomas D. Bain, faculty advisor, the debate team met on Monday, Wednesday and Friday during debate season, and forensic activity and the development of it at Harding has been due largely to his efforts.

The members of the affirmative side were, Bernard Brooks, Katharine Marshall, and Ivan Schmidt. On the negative were Robert Campbell, Robert Rosenberg, and Martha Jane Cook. John Canterbury and Willard Durfey were substitutes. Third year letters were awarded to Bernard Brooks, Katharine Marshall, and Robert Rosenberg; second year letters to John Canterbury and Martha Jane Cook; and a first year letter to Willard Durfey, at the debate dinner, March 25.

The officers for the year were: Martha Jane Cook, president; Robert Campbell, vice-president; John Canterbury, secretary; Ivan Schmidt, treasurer; and Katharine Marshall, reporter.

Industrial Research Club

To construct and extend a higher standard of scholarship among vocational students and to provide a means whereby leadership may be promoted, is the purpose of the Industrial Research Club organized in 1925 by Chester Hanover.

The vocational students whose grades for the first and second six weeks period are the highest third of the entire enrollment of that department are eligible for membership. Meetings were held the first and third Tuesdays of each month at the school. Mr. L. H. Riecker sponsors the organization.

The vocational shop practice was started in the year 1921, and ever since has taken an active part in the maintenance of the Marion Public School. The shop produces three combination jig saws a week and also make combination lathes. In addition to this work it receives work from local factories such as hardening and annealing or cutting gears on the milling machine.

About seventy-five students were enrolled in the Vocational Department. They were divided into three shifts, each shift working three hours. Besides shop experience a certain amount of academic work is required of the students.

The activities of the year included a visit to the Columbus, Delaware and Marion Power Plant, The Susquehanna Silk Mills, The Ohio Associated Telephone Company and a banquet held at The Marion City Club.

The officers for the year were: Byron Caldwell, president; Frederick Soos, vice-president; and Wayne Thew, Scribe.

Press Club

The writing of articles for the weekly publication, the Harding Herald, and a detailed study of the fundamentals of newspaper work is the purpose of the Press Club. It was organized by the class of 1925 under the direction of Miss Lucile Foreman, who now sponsors the organization. The membership this year was composed of those who took journalism.

Besides the analysis of the articles and their headlines as found in newspapers, the Press Club also analyzed the different types of magazines. This included the study of magazine contributors, cover designers, dramatic critics, artists and short story writers.

Different than in former years was the manner in which the Harding Herald was published, three editors instead of one were chosen. As there were three journalism classes, one class was assigned to each editor and they alternated in the publishing of the Herald.

The editors for the year were: Alice Crow, William Elliott, and Trella Hemmerly.

The members were: Sam Birnbaum, Lucille Brabson, Mary Burtch, Robert Cahill, Mary Campbell, Robert Campbell, Pauline Chambers, Mary Clark, Rayl Conyers, Eleanor Cowan, Genevieve Doering, Jean Drake, William Drake, Frances Emmons, S. Jeannette Evans, Robert Eyre, Dorothy Forry, Barbara Fralich, Wanda Freshwater, Clarence Gilbert, Herman Hamilton, Phyllis Hecker, Rhea Hinton, Anita Hoffmanns, Helen Holdridge, Wilson Jaycox, Virgil Johnson, Virginia Koons, Marita Larkin, Mary Lewis, Katharine Marshall, Marjorie May, Imogene Metz, Betty Miller, Martha Miller, Anna Mosher, David Murray, Evelyn McClelland, Muriel McMurray, Joseph Napoli, Ruthe Paddock, Henrietta Perfect, Donald Quaintance, Dale Rish, Doris Roberts, Francis Roush, Florence Schelb, Opal Setterfield, William Sifritt, Virginia Silliman, Cyril Smallwood, William Smith, Ruth Turner, Beatrice Uncapher, John Warner, Elaine Weimer, Orus Wetzol, Florence Wood, Louis Woolum, Eleanor Zieg, Thomas Zuck.

Booster Club

To promote greater interest in the activities of the school is the purpose of the Booster Club which was organized in 1925, by Mr. K. H. Marshall who now sponsors the organization. The membership is composed of all officers of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes, and students chosen to represent each home room.

Meetings were called from time to time by the president for the purpose of discussing some activity of the school which they were asked to sponsor. Throughout the year the club urged the school body to support and encourage the debate team by attending the debates. They also sponsored a "Clean Up Campaign" in the spring appealing to all pupils to take pride in their home rooms making for Harding a neat and tidy appearance.

The officers for the year were: Jack Bray, president; Marjorie May, vice-president; and Betty Strayer, secretary.

The members were: Rose Marie Baker, Merle Baumgartner, Karl Bechtle, John Beicher, Milton Birnbaum, Jack Bray, Helen Burns, Mary Campbell, Rayl Conyers, Richard Crow, James Day, James Eager, Robert Ebert, Jean Elliott, William Elliott, Chester Evans, Hubert Goerlich, Mary Gracely, John Guthrie, Herman Hamilton, Marjorie Hayner, Dorothy Hopper, George Howser, Dolly Laper, Margaret Lehman, Ruth Leonard, Mary Lewis, Willard Lewis, Wilfred Mahler, Marjorie May, Robert Miley, Betty Jane Miller, Jane Myers, Jane McCurdy, Georgene McGhee, Joseph Napoli, Joseph Packard, William Pohler, Betty Powell, Richard Probst, Donald Quaintance, Joe Rathel, Jane Raub, Zelda Redmond, Raymond Ross, Walter Ruzzo, Don Saiter, James Sautter, Ivan Schmidt, Gerald Seckle, Marcella Smith, William Smith, Mary Stoner, Betty Strayer, Robert Sweney, June Taylor, Aubrey Thompson, Virginia Vance, Rennix Van Scoy, Quinten Walker, John Warner, Maurice Whitcum, Clark Wideman, Elizabeth Zachman.

G. A. A.

To be healthy and spread health habits among others is the purpose of the Girls' Athletic Association which was organized in 1932 by Miss Rachel McAfee. All girls taking gymnasium and living up to a certain health code are eligible to join this organization.

The association was divided into four groups, Tri Kappa, Tri Theta, Tri Sigma, and Tri Delta which met as individual groups the last Wednesday of each month at the school. The club met as a whole the second Wednesday of every month with Miss McAfee as sponsor.

G. A. A.

Each group participated in some sport activity at least once a week. During the winter months supervised play, which included games, apparatus work, tumbling, and Indian clubs, was carried on. Spring and fall activities took the form of hikes, ball games, and all outdoor sports.

The outstanding feature of the year's activities was the White Christmas when gifts were brought by members to be given to the needy.

The officers for the year were: Katharine Marshall, president; Martha Jane Cook, vice-president; Jean Howard, secretary; and Alice Blake, treasurer.

Tri-Hi

The Tri-Hi chapter of the Girl Reserves is composed of girls, who, by their act of joining the organization, have expressed their desire to seek the best in life through knowledge of love, of friendship, and of the laws of health.

Tri-Hi was organized in 1928 with Mrs. Rogers M. Kyes (Miss Helen Jacoby) as sponsor. At the time of organization there were thirty charter members. Miss Mabel Turney, Miss Jean Freer and Miss Ruth Starr now sponsor the organization which has grown to be one of the largest clubs in the school.

The meetings this last year were held every two weeks on Thursday, at the school, alternating with Aim-Hi. "The Open Window" was the theme chosen for the year and discussions on various phases of the subject were given at each meeting. The Tri-Hi programs were unique and artistic in design. A picture of an open window, made by Mary Virginia Stock, was printed on the cover in keeping with the topic chosen.

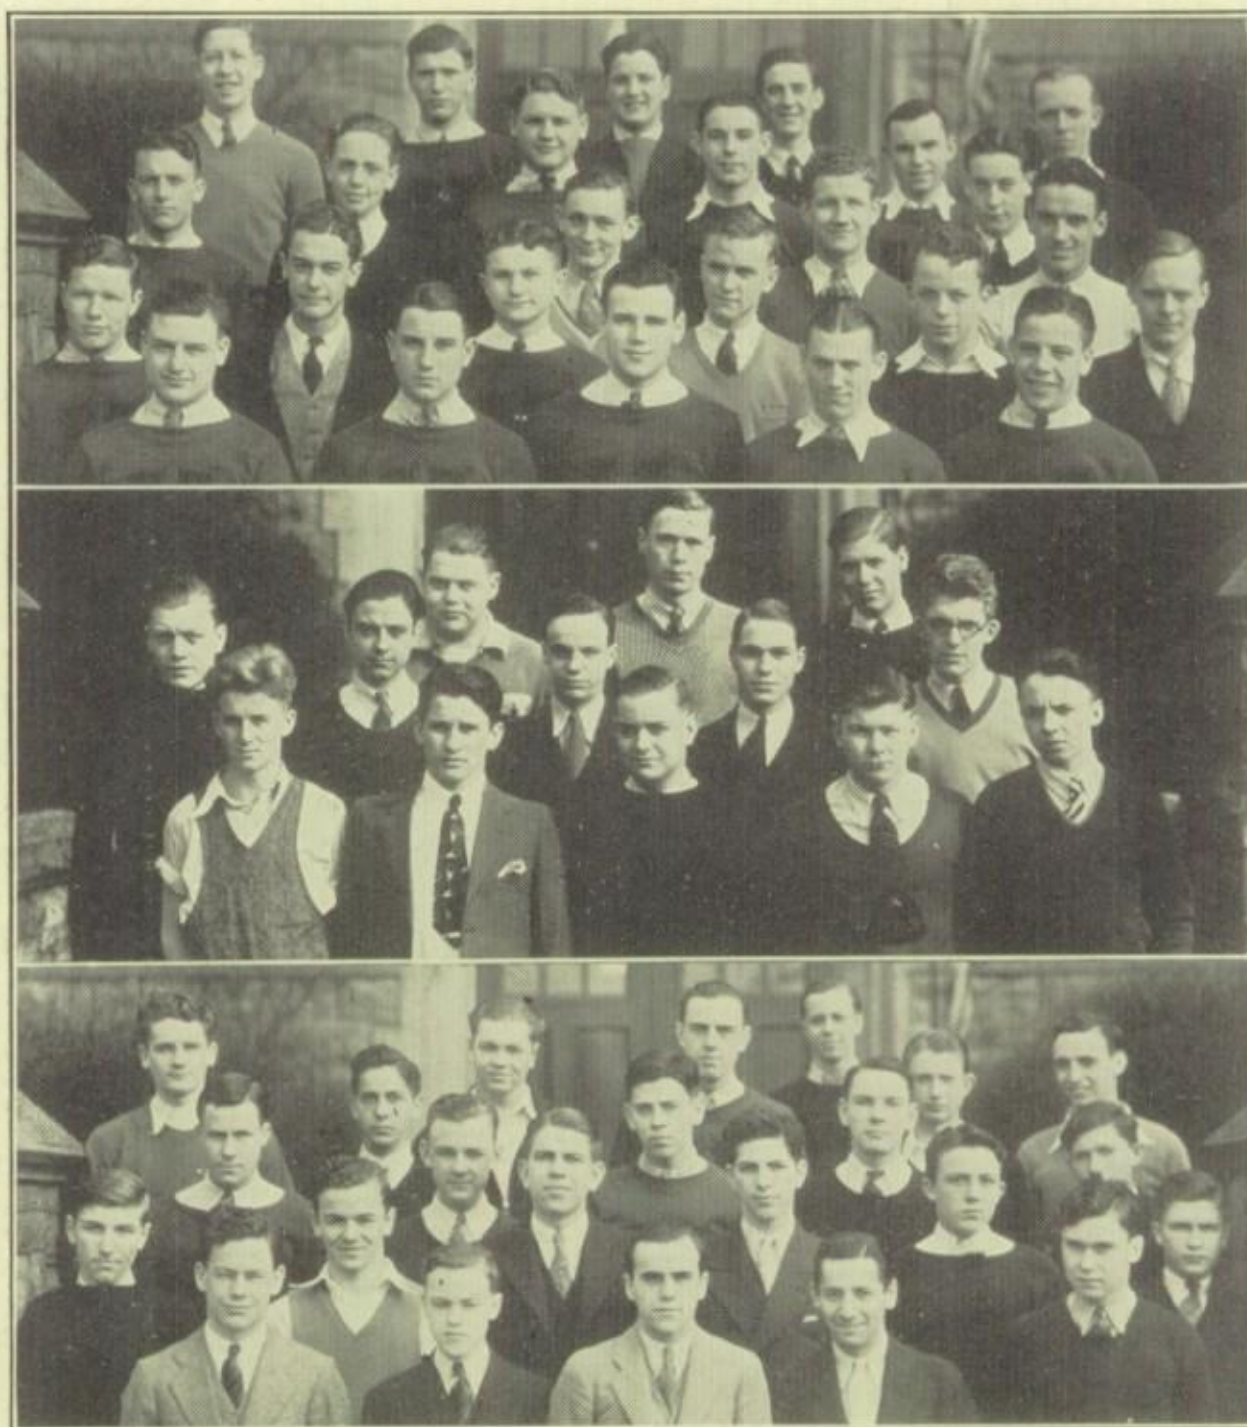

Tri-Hi

The social activities of the year consisted of a Get Acquainted Party when sophomore members were guests of the junior and senior girls; the Futuristic Party when the members foretold their future career by the attire worn; a Martha Washington Tea at which the mothers were guests; and a "Sweetheart" Party held at Edison Junior High School.

The Girl Reserves with the Hi-Y sponsored watch services at the Central Christian Church each morning during Passion Week and also a sunrise service Easter Sunday. These services have been conducted by the two clubs each year, at Easter, since 1930.

Hi-Y

To maintain and extend throughout the school and community higher standards of christian living is the purpose of the Hi-Y organization. Clean living, clean speech, clean scholarship and clean athletics are the principles upon which it was founded.

The club, composed of high school boys, was divided into three chapters, the Harding, the Athenian, and the Falcon. The meetings were held each Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. when the members assembled together, with John Beicher, city president, presiding. The latter part of the evening was given over to individual group meetings, in charge of Robert Mautz, president of the Harding Chapter, Don Kinnamon, president of the Falcon, and Max Bader, president of the Athenian Chapter.

Kinesian Club

The Kinesian Club is composed of girls who elect gymnasium in their senior year. Miss Rachel McAfee, who founded the club in 1926, sponsors the organization.

The meetings were held the last Tuesday of each month in the gymnasium. The name Kinesian is derived from the Greek, meaning calisthenics or exercises and thus depicts the purpose of the club.

Attired in gaily colored dancing dresses the senior girls were taught fantastic dances and later tap dancing was included in their instructions. Running, leaping, and hopping to gay music were the main features of the rhythm work.

The officers for the year were: Marcella Smith, president; Katharine Marshall, vice-president; Helen McAninch, secretary; and Mary Lewis, treasurer.

Tironian Club

To increase interest in shorthand is the purpose of the Tironian Club founded in 1924 by Mrs. A. F. Files (Mrs. Loretta Tilton). Mr. Russell C. Dunlap sponsors the organization. The president for the year was Ethyleen Bonecutter.

Library Council

Library Council is sponsored by Miss Etta Jacoby, who organized the club in 1929. Students chosen to assist her in the library are members. Mary Louise Winters was president for the year.

Ye Merrie Players

To create a greater interest in dramatics is the purpose of Ye Merrie Players which was organized in 1922 by Miss Lucile Foreman, who now sponsors the organization.

All those who aided in the production of any play during their junior or senior year are eligible to membership. The plays in which the members participated were: "The Cross-Stitch Heart," "The Sentimental Scarecrow," "Babbitt's Boy," "A Message from Khufu," the junior plays of 1932; "Doctor of Lonesome Folk," "Never Ain't," "The Master Salesman," junior plays of 1933; and "Disraeli" the senior play of 1933.

A banquet closed the year's activities.

The officers for the year were: Robert Mautz, president; Francis Roush, vice-president; John Guthrie, secretary; and Martha Waddell, treasurer.

Mixed Chorus

To create a taste and appreciation of good music is the purpose of the Mixed Chorus, which was composed of boys and girls of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Members of the organization were selected by Mr. T. R. Evans, director, through competitive try outs in which the quality of voice played an important part.

An "A Capella Choir" was chosen from the chorus and furnished music at different times at Sunday evening services in the various churches throughout the city.

In an eisteddfod held at Lima April 28, Harding High School competed with Lima Central, and Defiance High schools and won two first places and eight seconds.

The first places were won by the mixed quartet composed of George Wingett, tenor; Betty Annen, soprano; Henrietta Bird, alto; and Sam Orahood, bass; and also by the boys' quartet composed of George Wingett, tenor; Don Preuninger, second tenor; Sam Orahood, baritone; and Milton Baker, bass.

Orchestra

Through the efforts of Mr. T. R. Evans, the orchestra has come to play an important part in the activities of Harding High School. The purpose of the organization is two-fold, to be of service to the school and to give the members an insight into good music, bringing the works of the classics and modern music before them. Harding High School was host for the annual North-Central Ohio high school music contest held at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High School, March 24.

Band

Harding Band is ever marching forward under the direction of Mr. T. R. Evans and through his supervision more instruments have been added each year.

It might be well said that such an organization is a great advertiser for that which it represents. The well trained marching of Harding Band, combined with Francis Roush's impressive strutting and Mr. Evans' comprehensive direction never failed to impress the onlooker with a feeling of respect for the wearers of the red and black.

That a band augments school spirit at athletic events has long been an accepted fact. During the Harding football season the band accompanied the team on some of their trips and added further enthusiasm to the games.

The band participated in the annual North-Central Ohio high school music contest held at Edison Junior High School, March 24, winning second place. On April 18 they took part in a community concert sponsored by the Marion Concert Association and the Marion Council of 100.

Director, Miss Lucile Foreman; Faculty Business Advisor, E. H. Shade.

Junior Plays

Under the direction of Miss Lucile Foreman, the junior class presented three one act plays, "Never Ain't," "A Master Salesman," and "The Doctor of Lonesome Folk," at Edison Junior High School.

"Never Ain't," written by Belle McDiarmid Ritchey, took place in a one room school house in the Kentucky mountains. It portrayed the hatred between the families of the Castrins and the Roarks, which was typical of life in the mountains during the time when the old Kentucky feuds were much in evidence.

"The Master Salesman," by William Hazlitt Upson, was a comedy, the setting of which was the office of the Farmer's Friend Tractor Company. "The Doctor of Lonesome Folk," a Christmas pantomime, was written by Louise Van Voorhis Armstrong.
